

S. H. ARROWOOD, OF "VICE SQUAD," IS SUSPENDED ON THE CHARGE OF IMPROPER PROPOSALS TO WOMAN

Mrs. Lula J. Wood, Widow, Signs a Sworn Affidavit Making Serious Allegations, and His Suspension, Pending Trial, Follows.

ARROWOOD DENIES THAT HE IS GUILTY

Mrs. Wood Alleges That Plainclothesmen Arrowwood and Welch Arrested Her Young Sons, and Later Arrowwood Returned and Insulted Her.

S. H. Arrowwood, well-known policeman and for two years a member of the so-called "vice squad," has been suspended by Chief of Police J. L. Beavers, pending a meeting of the board of commissioners to investigate the charge of Mrs. Lula J. Wood, that he made improper proposals to her.

Mrs. Wood, who is a widow, has signed a sworn affidavit setting forth her charges in detail.

Arrowwood denies the charges in toto and says he will prove his innocence. According to her statement, Arrowwood arrested her two young sons for public offense, and later came to her and said he would get them out of the trouble if she would "be a friend to him."

Chief Is Silent.
Chief Beavers refused to discuss the suspension of the officer or any phase of the case against him.

Arrowwood will be tried by the board on next Tuesday night at the regular session.

Mrs. Wood related the story of Arrowwood's visits to her home as follows: "I have been seeing Arrowwood and Welch since the Saturday night Christmas. Officer Arrowwood, accompanied by his partner, a man named Welch, came to my home, arrested my boys for this trivial offense and carried them to the juvenile detention home."

"Mr. Arrowwood talked very nice to me," continued Mrs. Wood, "telling me that he wanted to see me get my boys out of trouble."

"He said he wanted to talk the matter over with me, while I was alone. 'I don't want the boys here and I think I can get them away all right,' the officer assured me."

"I would like to come back later, Mrs. Wood, and talk it over with you, but you will be in bed, won't you?" Arrowwood continued, and then he left.

Arrowwood returned, not knowing his real intentions, that he could come back, and that I would not go to bed that night, but would cry all night long about my boys.

"He left my house, telling me that he would be back in a few minutes, and I think he and Welch carried the boys to a police box, put them in the patrol wagon in Welch's custody and Mr. Arrowwood returned to see me in a very short time."

"I do not want to repeat the language he used when we were alone in the reception hall of my house."

"This language was insulting, and I will say, that he failed to carry out his promise of talking to me about my boys, he talked very nice to me. He said that he would get them out of the trouble if I would be his friend. I won't repeat his words, but I told him that was an insult, and that he failed to recognize that fact."

"He was talking to a lady, I ordered him out of the house and he got his hat and left."

"I informed Chief Beavers of the insult his officer had heaped upon me in my own home and he took up the matter, resulting in my furnishing an affidavit."

SIX BELIEVED DROWNED. No Hope for Crew of Brunswick

Brunswick, Ga., January 6.—Hope for the safety of any of the six members of the crew of the ship Brunswick, wrecked off Cumberland island, near here, Monday during a heavy sea, were abandoned tonight.

The bodies of the two negro crew members were found on the beach today, together with portions of the timbers of the four white men, and a sea was striven for two miles along the beach.

The Brunswick was wrecked after going around and while the crew was waiting for high tide to float the vessel.

The missing and dead include Harry Ingram, captain; Carlos U. Hart, engineer; George Bell, fireman; Charles Bell, fireman; Henry Bell, fireman; and Dave Smith, negro cook.

POLICEMEN ARE TRIED FOR BEING TARDY

Judge Johnson Will Not Stand for Lateness on Part of Patrolmen.

Judge George R. Johnson dismissed five cases of disorderly conduct against defendants in police court Wednesday afternoon because the police officers who had arrested the defendants were not in the courtroom to prosecute their cases when they were called by Clerk W. H. Preston.

"I am not going to stand for this tardiness on the part of police officers," said Judge Johnson, "and as a result, I am dismissing these cases."

A few minutes later, when the cases of the police officers were called, the judge said: "Thank you, judge," echoed the chorus of negroes, the smiles increasing in size until the judge said: "I am not going to stand for this tardiness on the part of police officers."

In a few moments Police Chief Beavers was facing the judge, presenting for trial the five tardy police officers. Judge Johnson, however, dismissed the cases.

TODAY IS CHRISTMAS, NOT FOR YOU AND ME, BUT FOR THE GREEKS

There are many people who will be surprised when it is said today is Christmas day, and that last night—Christmas eve—scores of stockings were hung up over Atlanta fireplaces to be filled by old Santa Claus.

But this is the Christmas of the orthodox Christians, composed for the most part of the Greeks, Russians, Rumanians, Servians and Montenegrins.

The service will be held at 1 o'clock this afternoon at the Greek church, Central avenue and Barnett street, presided over by Rev. Demetrius Patrikios.

The feature of the menu today among these people will be roast lamb.

AMERICAN COTTON SHIP DETAINED BY BRITAIN

Steamer Denver Has 7,000 Bales of Cotton for German Port of Bremen.

Washington, January 6.—The American steamer Denver, bound for Bremen, Germany, with cotton from Norfolk, Va., has been detained at Kirkwall, Orkney islands, north of Scotland. The owners have asked the state department to make representations.

The Denver was reported to have been loaded under the inspection not only of United States customs officials, but also of the British consular officers at Norfolk. She had aboard about 7,000 bales of cotton.

Arrangements are now under way which, it is believed here, may facilitate shipments. The plan would provide that vessels have their hatches sealed before they leave Norfolk, both American customs officials and British action in declaring naval stores.

The report of the tax assessors and equalizers was the first made since the county commission was organized during the administration of Governor Johnston.

Governor Johnston was one of the strongest supporters of the measure, and the report is a most remarkable result of the work of the assessors.

The increase in city real property, according to the report is $148,777 in personal property, $161,880 in real property, and $118,387 in county real property.

The increase in city real property is $148,777, and in county real property is $118,387.

The report shows that the Buckhead district leads all other districts, with an increase of $118,387.

One of the recommendations made by the assessors in their report is that the county commission should require that hereafter all property owners be required to give the number of their land lots when returning tax returns.

This, according to the assessors, will accelerate the work of making assessments.

CRUEL BATTLE

Two Corps of the Sultan's Army Annihilated in Caucasus—Battle Was Fought in a Deep Snow.

Petrograd, January 6.—The following statement of the general staff of the army in the Caucasus was issued tonight:

"At the end of November the bulk of the third Turkish army was sent to the Caucasus, preceded by two army corps, besides a reserve corps, near Hassan Kalah."

In conformity with the plan of Enver Pasha, the third army was to proceed as follows: The Ninth and Tenth army corps were to advance in the direction of Olti and form the offensive flank, whereas the eleventh corps had orders to hold its powerfully organized position and attract through a strategic demonstration, the weight of our troops."

In the case the Russian troops had taken the offensive against the Turkish forces, the eleventh corps had been ordered to fall back on the fortress of Erzurum, carrying along with it the Russian forces."

"The Tenth Turkish army corps was to follow the eleventh corps, and the first, following one division, proceeding toward Idli and the Olti-Chal valley. The second division, which was to advance on Ardost through the Olti-Chal valley, was to take the offensive in the interval between the Tenth and Eleventh army corps."

Inflated Heavy Losses.
"Our troops in the region of Olti checked with great courage the Turkish advance, despite the numerical superiority of the enemy, and through several counter-attacks inflicted heavy losses."

At the meantime we detected a strong Turkish column, reinforced by Muslemian rebels, which was advancing toward the Panfleurist and Jankouchansk passes in the direction of Ardost. The column, which had left at this point, after holding out for seventeen days, fell back a little to the east."

"Having received reinforcements we captured the flag of the Tenth Turkish corps concentrated at Ardost and inflicted upon the enemy a complete tactical defeat. The flag of the Tenth Turkish corps, a part of the Tenth Turkish corps, was captured."

"During the development of a subsequent action we discovered that the bulk of the Turkish forces, which were the Ninth and Tenth army corps, were taking part in offensive operations against the Russian forces."

"The movement was undertaken through mountain roads and through deep snow. The Turkish forces were taking part in offensive operations against the Russian forces."

VICTORY OF RUSSIANS OVER TURKISH FORCES REPORTED "COMPLETE"

Russians Have Also Taken the Offensive on the East Prussian Frontier, and They Continue to Drive the Austrians Through Passes of the Carpathians.

Next Move by Rumania Is Awaited With Interest.

London, January 6.—Apart from the Russian victory over the Turks in Transcaucasia, which is described in a dispatch to the Russian embassy from Petrograd as "complete," interest in the war centers in the stubborn fight on the fronts to Cerny and Muskhousen in Upper Alsace.

The battle in that region, raging for a week, is described in a Berlin dispatch as the most violent of the war. The Germans regained one trench they had lost, but on the whole the French reports appear to show that the forces of France maintain their advantage, for every square inch of ground had to be fought for with the bayonet.

Along the rest of the western front the tide of battle continues to ebb and flow. On either side of Rheims, according to reports, the French daily push their lines a few yards forward, while in the Argonne, where more hard fighting is going on, first the Germans and then the French report the capture of the other's entrenchments.

Another region where the French seemingly keep nibbling away at the German lines is in the Woerwa, where they have reinforced their lines again today. They have taken a long way toward rendering the German long occupation of the Meuse, less comfortable.

RUSSIANS PRESS ON ALL FRONTS.
The Russians, with all their efforts to cover, have found nothing new in the reports which indicate that the German position at Mianwa, on the East Prussian frontier, and in Bukovina, is becoming more and more precarious.

The Germans still are hammering at the Russian line, drawn directly across the road to Warsaw from the west, but it is reported, with less force behind them. In West Galicia, however, where they have reinforced their lines, they have held up the Russian advance near Gorlice.

In southern Poland rain has stopped the fighting. Neither side is able to move there, owing to the high water in the rivers.

The Russians continue to drive the Austrians through the snow-covered passes of the Carpathians and out of Bukovina, and simultaneously are dealing in detail with the remnants of the Turkish armies in Transcaucasia.

The Turkish dash into this distant region is reported to have been by military means, and not by a large-scale maneuver. Military operations in the Caucasus are continuing, and it is said in this season at any time, they say, but in a particularly severe winter there will be no chance of the poorly equipped Turkish troops succeeding in their operations.

Although the Russians engaged the Turks in ten pitched battles, in many cases they were repulsed, and at an altitude of from 4,000 to 10,000 feet. In the region of international politics the next move by Rumania is awaited with interest, while the arrival of General Mercier, prime minister of France, is awaited.

U. S. COURT FORMALLY GRANTS FRANK APPEAL

Justice Lamar So Notifies At-ference With Dorsey.

Attorney General Warren Grice on Wednesday received formal notification from Justice Lamar, of the United States supreme court, that the appeal of Leo M. Frank, convicted of the murder of Mary Phagan, had been granted by the recent application to the local federal court for habeas corpus.

Attorney General Grice has notified Solicitor Dorsey, and a conference has been arranged between the solicitor and the attorney general for some time Thursday, when the details of presenting the state's side of the case will be discussed.

The date of the hearing of the case in the supreme court was not specified in the notification to the attorney general.

EVANGELIST SINGERS HOLD CONVENTION HERE

A conference has just been held at the Anley hotel by some of the leading evangelist singers here in a bid to a national convention to be held here during this year.

At this conference speakers were Messrs. O. W. Hamilton, F. M. Boyd, Charles D. Tillman, Hamp Sewell, Ross, and Miss S. Hamilton. Mr. Boyd, who is a native of this city, presided over the conference, which will bring the evangelist singers here in a body to discuss the different phases of the important work they represent.

Speakers and singers of note will be in attendance, and as this convention will last two and a half days, embracing a Sunday, the churches and Sunday schools of the city will enjoy the privilege of some special singing from these men who have consecrated their talents to Christian work.

A large attendance is expected.

CALOMEL DYNAMITES A SLUGGISH LIVER

Crashes Into Your Bile, Making You Sick and You Lose a Day's Work.

Calomel salivates! It's mercury. Calomel acts like dynamite on a sluggish liver. When calomel comes into contact with your bile it crashes into it, causing frame and nerve.

If you feel bilious, headachy, constipated and all knocked out, just go to your drugist and get a 50 cent bottle of Dodson's Liver Tonic, which is a harmless vegetable substitute for dangerous calomel. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't start your liver and strengthen you up in 10 minutes, return your money.

Just as you take calomel today you'll be sick and nauseated tomorrow! Besides, it may salivate you, while if you take Dodson's Liver Tonic you will wake up feeling great, full of ambition and ready for work or play. It's harmless, pleasant and safe to give to children; they like it.

FROM OLD WOMEN'S HOME MRS. BARCLAY SENDS HER THANKS

The spirit of a rarely sweet nature is expressed in the attitude of Mrs. Lucy Barclay, widow of the beloved philanthropist, the late John Barclay.

Though an invalid for many years, confined to a rolling chair, her interest in the world around her is live and cheerful. She has courageously borne the loss of her devoted husband and tried to continue in spirit the great and loving work he did for needy humanity.

A small income, and the comfort of the Home for Old Women, makes it possible for Mrs. Barclay to receive every care. This year she received many evidences of affection from countless friends, and to these she has addressed a note of thanks as follows:

To the Public and to My Personal Friends: The New Year's time for universal retrospect, I chose it as a fitting opportunity to express the gratitude that fills my heart for the many blessings which have come to me in the year just past. For these blessings I would wish first of all to thank my Heavenly Father, and then the many kind friends who have been His instruments for bringing much of comfort and happiness into my life.

I wish to thank the board of management of the Home for Old Women, for the constant and intelligent care which is given me.

Secondly, I would thank my many friends who make my life pleasant throughout the year, but more particularly those who have contributed generously to my happiness at this Christmas season. But as that is impossible for me to do individually to each one of these friends, but as that is impossible for me at this time I would ask each to accept this as a personal note. The holiday season has been a very happy one for me and mine. I give sincere thanks to all who have contributed to this occasion.

TECH WILL COMPLETE POWER LABORATORY

At Meeting of Board of Trustees It Was Decided to Rush Work.

The board of trustees of Georgia Tech, of which Governor-elect Nat E. Harris is chairman, held its regular quarterly meeting yesterday at the college and decided to go ahead as soon as practicable with the work of constructing the proposed $200,000 power laboratory, for which such a strenuous campaign was carried on last summer.

The building will cost approximately $200,000. This includes about $100,000 worth of power and mechanical equipment, donated to the proposed plant by a number of big northern corporations. The erection of the plant will be the consummation of the campaign of the previous summer.

It has not been definitely decided at what time active steps will be taken.

BARROW PICKS OFFICERS.
First Election Is Held in New County.

Winder, Ga., January 6.—(Special.)—The election of county officers and representative from the new county of Barrow was held at Winder on Tuesday, and after a very exciting election the following were elected: R. L. Carithers defeated J. T. Wages for representative by 1,283 to 581; H. G. Hill, for ordinary, received more votes than both of his opponents; Sheriff Camp was an easy winner for sheriff against a former sheriff; Jackson county, and George Bagwell won in a close race for clerk. The other officers elected were W. M. Holtsbeck for county school commissioner; J. W. Nowell for treasurer; A. M. Williams for tax collector; J. A. Sullivan for receiver; R. L. Griffith for county surveyor; and Tom McElhannon for coroner.

BAD FORTUNE TRAILS THIS ALBANY FAMILY

Albany, Ga., January 6.—(Special.)—One of the saddest cases of a family pursued by ill fortune brought to public attention here in years is that of the Watkins family, residing on North street. The head of the family has been out of employment for some time, but charitable organizations have provided the household with the necessities of life. Several days ago, however, one of the younger boys developed a case of pneumonia and in a short time three others were down with the same affliction. They were carried to a hospital, and there one of the boys, Willie Watkins, has just died. The other pneumonia victims are in a desperate condition and doctors are doing all in their power to keep the remaining members of the family from having to follow the others to the hospital. All are threatened with pneumonia.

always contended and as medical science recognizes, suffers from a disease almost as surely as though he had been infected with a germ. The same principle applies more intensively with the drug field. The method of treating these men as criminals is not only brutal but stupid. It sacrifices the chance to reclaim them to productivity and manhood and increases the drain upon society.

What can be done in the work of reclamation of inmates alone is shown by the work of Probation Officer Cofiger. If the laws extending the authority of the city and state are broadened and a plan approximating the Johnson theory adopted, much more progress can be made. The prison farm is a favorite and successful procedure in the more advanced states. Why not in Georgia, for these delinquents?

NATHAN STRAUS, GEORGIAN.

It will be welcome news to Georgians to learn that Nathan Straus, the noted philanthropist and world peace advocate, contemplates returning to the state of his birth, here to spend the rest of his days.

Nathan Straus is not a stranger to Atlanta. He has made frequent visits here, and upon each occasion charmed those whom he met with his democracy of manner, simplicity of style and breadth of mind. His latest visit was characteristic of the man's ready response to good causes and of his modesty. At that time, The Constitution was conducting a campaign for a municipal ward for contagious diseases among negroes. Of his own volition, Mr. Straus sent a check for $50.00 to further the work, but upon the explicit condition that his name not be made public until he had left the city.

His efforts for practical philanthropy in New York city mark him as a pioneer in one branch of that benign field. In 1890 he instituted the campaign for pure milk in the metropolis, resulting in the establishment of many free milk stations. How many lives have been saved by that campaign would be difficult to estimate. Mr. Straus' philanthropies have been confined to one field of need or religion. They have taken a wide range, as indicated in the Atlanta incident, and have been as broad and practical as human need itself.

The three Straus brothers, Nathan, Isidor and Oscar, were born at Talbotton, Ga. Isidor Straus achieved international reputation as a financier. His heroic death on the "Titanic" is yet fresh in the public memory. Oscar, the youngest, has been ambassador to Turkey, emissary to the Hague conference and a member of Roosevelt's cabinet. It would be difficult to find another family that has so distinguished itself in public and private service.

Upon his passing visits to Atlanta, Nathan Straus has been always a welcome guest. Returning to his native state as a permanent resident, he would be doubly welcome, considering those things he has done and the broad ideals for which he stands.

IS OBREGON THE MAN?

The news that General Obregon, Carranza's military leader, has defeated the forces of Huerta, suggests the question: Is Obregon the possible "man of the hour," the overlooked factor in the Mexican question?

Unbiased visitors to Mexico report that Obregon's military genius is unquestioned. He possesses, in addition, diplomacy, a grasp of Mexico's problems and, what is more to the point, a sincere desire for peace and a stable government in that unhappy country.

Heretofore, he has been held in the background. Now, Carranza is giving him a free hand. If he can defeat the redoubtable Villa, it may be that Obregon will prove to be the solution to Mexico's tangled problem. At least, he combines all the needed qualities that previously wanted "saviors" have lacked.

The easiest way to break that resolution is to tell your friends that you wrote it "1915" very first time.

There is this comfort for the pessimists: They can chant dreary over the Old Year's grave while the world's brave work goes on.

Final report of the late 1914: "We were forced to retire on both our right and left wings."

Latest from geologists is that the world is 100,000,000 years old. And there is a suspicion that the war-bugs are very nearly that far from true Christian civilization.

It may be the chance of war, but up to date the submarine has invariably blasted battleships with formidable means.

Prefor moving pictures to a war that creeps an inch a day.

When war-kings preach sermons they expect the big guns to roar Amen!

There'll be no "mourners' bench" at the business revival. They'll do for bonfires to signal Progress.

The republican party is busy taking stock of its presidential impossibilities.

The heathen with the war extra can't be blamed if he directs the missionary to the firing line.

The word-poems to our old friend, Dollar Bill, have so advertised him that he continues to do a rushing business at any old stand.

The ex-war correspondents have taken the platform to tell us all that we read about the war.

the Holland Letter

By GEORGE FITCH,
Author of "At Good Old Hush."

If the estimate which was published on the last day of 1914 as coming from Secretary Redfield, of the department of commerce at Washington, be fairly accurate, then, of the entire production of the United States for the year 1914, stated in terms of dollars, about one-third of the total, or Secretary Redfield does not go farther in his estimate than a statement of the money value of farm products for the year 1914.
The estimate at issue was to the effect that $100,000,000,000 had it not been for the heavy loss in cotton occasioned by the European war, the aggregate amount would have been approximately ten and one-quarter billions.

The best estimate of the money value of our rural production—mineral, lumber, manufactures and farm crops—the amount at a little over fifty billions a year. If, then, the farms furnish ten billions of this amount these farms clearly furnish about one-fifth counted for by manufactured commodities, minerals and the products of the forest.

Among several strange coincidences of the year 1914 is one which will be traditional in the last half of the century. The European war was in progress. It was in this half of the year that much the greater part of the farm products of the United States was harvested and a good deal of the world's supply of food was being produced. It happened that at a time when Europe was in desperate straits and when the world had greatly decreased in the intelligent nations, the United States harvested crops valued at $100,000,000,000. The estimate was made by the United States government and the figures for the year 1914 were those for the year 1914. With a record of this kind it is no wonder that the estimate made of finance in London and continental Europe for the United States not only for moral, but to such simple tricks as the war.

The letter received, which is confidential, the names of the contestants being held confidential, was as follows:

Dick Jemison, Sporting Editor The Constitution: "We are very sorry that we put you in such trouble. We could not get a self-addressed envelope. We will send you one by mail."

with him. Mike acted fairly with me, I turned down all other offers, so that I could be a part of it. "I am willing to meet any boy Mike selects for me, but, of course, I must be a tough customer, and Mike picked a hard fight for me to beat. He has a lot of friends, and I am sure I can beat the boy with the punch is always dangerous. "I am sure that many Atlanta fans are picking Eggers to beat me. I am glad of that, as it will be a bigger feather in my cap."

Pursuant to an order granted by Judge H. Adams, referee in bankruptcy, I wish to the highest bidder, subject to the approval of the court, all of the notes, accounts of the Phillips-Boyd Publishing Company, amounting to approximately $100,000.
